DUNMORE and Partner Bron Aerotech to Showcase High Performance Films and Tapes for the Aerospace Industry

Leading Providers of Engineered Films and Tapes Co-Exhibit at AIAA's Space 2012

Bristol, Pa., September 6, 2012 – DUNMORE Corporation will exhibit the films and tapes protecting recent spacecraft missions such as NASA's Mars Science Laboratory 'Curiosity' and the Radiation Belt Storm Probes and will be available to discuss the important role these high performance materials play in the success of these and other missions at AIAA's Space 2012 held from September 11-13 in Pasadena, California.

DUNMORE will be co-exhibiting with partner Bron Aerotech, Inc. (Denver), a leading provider of high-performance tapes, films and fabrics to the aerospace and defense industries. Spokespeople from both companies will be available to discuss detailed technical qualities of DUNMORE's ESD \(electrostatic dissipative film\) products and multi-layer insulation \(MLI\) materials, which have been involved in numerous space programs. They will also be addressing next generation materials and how they will provide more flexible, reliable, and long term service; as well as other functions in these products that enhance performance over the life of a space vehicle.
